Andre the Seal

The beautiful, small harbor of Rockport, Maine is bounded on one side by a park which is open to the public and contains two things from the town's past which mark milestones.

Of very recent history, you may recall the news stories concerning Rockport's famous sea who failed to show up in the harbor a few years ago after his annual swim from his winte stay at Boston's Aquarium. Andre was unique in the seal kingdom, known up and down the coast of Maine for his summer performances in Rockport Harbor. When Andre was born on Robinson's Neck on May 16, 1971 he had the good fortune to be found by Harry Goodridge of Rockport because after the birth he was abandoned by his mother. Mr. Goodridge brought the newborn pup home and raised him and trained him to do the tricks that seals delight in doing. In time, the tricks became a regular summer performance, done at set times, just off a wharf next to the boat yard and yacht club. Residents and tourists would park and watch Andre go through his routine and it was such a popular attraction that tourists would come back each year on the occasion that they happened to be in always returned after a winter's "vacation" to perform for him to the delight of the public. When he failed to show up in Rockport on what turned out to be his final swim from Boston, it was front page news in a multitude of newspapers and headlines on network evening news programs. People waited anxiously for news until it was finally evident Andre would never return.

In the Rockport park there is a marble s of Andre the Seal, sculptured by Jane Wes ley in 1978. It commands the view of the waters that he knew so well and, when it v unveiled, Andre was the guest of honor with the duty of pulling the string which revealed his likeness. round the marble Andre, who had been made Honorary Harbormaster of Rockport, Maine.

From much further back in time, behind Andre's statue, are the ruins of the Rockport Lime Kilns. These huge stone furnaces, once covered by a wooden building topped by a railroad track and trestle, were a major industry of the town at the turn of the century. The small trains brought the limestone in over the kiln and dumped it directly into the top of the furnace. The heat process converted the crushed stone to lime used to make mortar and plaster. This raw material (burned lime) was packed into water-tight wood kegs which were loaded onto schooners from the docks directly in front of the kiln. In 1859, this was a $100,000 industry (a great fortune at that time), shipping 156,500 casks. A great fire in 1907 destroyed the facility and it never recovered. Through the efforts of Mr. Ambrose Cramer these kilns were declared a historic site in 1970 and under the direction of his widow, a restoration committee restored and stabilized the kilns to the condition that they are in today.

ONE ARTICLE-ORR BUDGET

MATTAPOISETT SELECTMEN'S MEETING

JULY 24, 1990- by VIRGINIA MORGAN

The date of Monday, August 13th, at 7:30 p.m. was set for a Special Town Meeting to vote on one article - the Old Rochester Regional School District Committee budget. The amount sought is $39,294.60.

A joint meeting last Tuesday of Selectmen, Finance Committee, ORR School Commmittee member/treasurer M. C. Rosenfield, Town Clerk Lois K. Ennis, Town Accountant Joseph Bolton and several concerned citizens discussed the article and how best to present it to the voters for a second time.

The ORR District School Committee at its July 17th meeting recertified its 1990/1991 budget. Following rejection at the polls of an override for the budget with $98,736 as Mattapoisett's share, the school committee has received additional funds from the state, thus making the amount required from each town in the district (Mattapoisett, Rochester and Marion) a lesser amount than originally sought at the June 5th election override.

Mattapoisett's revised assessment is $1,785,605.96, with $1,746,211.36 budgeted and passed, and leaving $39,394.60 shortfall. The total school budget for maintenance and operation is $5,802,123.

Selectman Daniel O. Mahoney pointed out Mattapoisett will have to call a special town meeting to vote on the additional funds to be held within 30 days or the town will be required to pay the amount by default, with voters having no say in the decision. "This is the normal process for voters to have the opportunity to vote on these funds", said Selectmen Chairman John DeCosta.

The town of Marion will not have to vote again as their voters passed the override for their share; Rochester, however, like Mattapoisett, will have to call a special town meeting. Both Rochester and Mattapoisett turned down the override for the larger amount. Selectmen noted there will be no override this time because the 30-day time limit does not allow sufficient time to advertise an election, and to comply with the law with absentee ballots.

Selectman Mahoney said "I don't know where we will get the money now as our reserve fund is depleted. We won't have any free cash until September or October. As soon as the state budget passes, we should have some free cash funds for fiscal 1990 that can be used for past bills and to cover the $39,394.60."

ister to vote for the special town meeting during town hall business hours and until 8 p.m. Friday, August 3rd.

After the date of the meeting was decided upon, Finance Committee Chairman Elizabeth Kunz commented on her role as chairman of the committee, saying "I feel frustrated and disgusted with the budgets extended and overextended. Quite a few of the departments are spending willy nilly. There is no control over department heads; there has been total disregard. This year will be even tighter than last year. All the reserve funds have been used up, and the requests for transfers have been totally irresponsible. There will have to be control over expenditures, especially the sanitary landfill. I asked at budget preparation time specifically if there would be other charges. The Board of Health members said no, then they came in with a $5,000 bill for fill. Even though it is small, they all add up." Mrs. Kunz noted she will be completing her time as chairman of the committee but will remain as a member. She repeated a request made at an earlier meeting for a seven-member finance committee, up two from the present five members. Presently, one person is needed to fill a vacant slot. Also, the by-laws state appointments to the finance committee Chairman DeCosta said the town by-law amendment would have to be changed at town meeting to increase the number of members and to change the manner in which appointments are made.

Selectman Mahoney responded to Mrs. Kunz, saying "The call firefighters and snow removal are budgets we have no control over; we never know what the expenses will be. At the sanitary landfill, we had an obligation to SEMASS and it had to be paid." Finance Committee member Robert Banz said "we don't,argue the validity of the expenditures but department heads should lop off other expenditures if adding new ones."

Mr. Mahoney said, in referring to Town Accountant Joseph Bolton, "We have a new, young man as accountant. He is very knowledgeable and will get a handle on the budgets. In the last few weeks he has had a problem of what to do with all the bills coming in and no funds." Mr. Mahoney said, "I agree that we need to tighten things up, we need more fiscal management. We should know what we have, what has been spent and what we have left."

1, 1990. The full amount for the five members is included in the 1991 budget.

Because of a mixup, the two new members of the school committee who were added this year by town meeting and election vote were not included in the town budget for fiscal 1989/1990. There were sufficient funds to pay only three members.

In a letter from Chairman Morgan she listed the current five members and the one who went out of office in March. Selectmen instructed the town accountant to pay these five people on account forthwith with the funds available for the three members being divided equally. When further funds are available at a special town meeting, the members will be paid the difference for a total of $154.88. The accountant had withheld all payments until receiving instructions from the Selectmen.

HEARD A REPORT on SEMASS from Selectman Mahoney He said the law firm of Perry, Hicks and Crowley was employed to work with the attorneys and boards from the four other towns (Middleboro, Wellfleet, Freetown and Fairhaven). The attorneys met on July 20th in Fairhaven to consider what to do - whether there has been a change of law since signing the agreement with SEMASS, such as a change in statute or rules and regulations and the imposition of conditions placed by the state; whether they are more burdensome than previously. The state DEP made SEMASS add acid scrubbers and SEMASS claims this cost added $6.95 per town to the charges the towns originally signed for at $12. per ton. Is it a change of law, the attorneys ask? If it is, what is the cost? The matter is further complicated because two of the five towns have contracts without any arbitration clause; Mattapoisett is one of those two. A failure to pay goes to dispute. The five towns will explore with SEMASS a way to settle either in court or arbitration. He added that SEMASS is asking for an additional $8.95 per town to total $20.95, effective July 1, 1990. SEMASS contends the demands for incurred payment is for additional costs made necessary by the state regulations. "We need to find out the scope of the obligation problems; there is no action required by Selectmen tonight", Mr. Mahoney said. Mr. DeCosta said "We could put ourselves in a bind further down the road and cost us more; we have to make decisions now."

AGREED TO THE SPECIFICATIONS prepared by Harbormaster Steven Mach in conjunction with special town counsel Daniel Perry for a Cuddy-cabin style, 20 to 22 foot boat to go out as a single bid. The motor and trailer will also go out separately as each of these two will be less than $10,000. All funds will come from the Enterprise Fund. Under the procurement act, the bid advertisement must be printed for 14 days.

RECEIVED A LETTER from James F. Hesketh of Brandt Island Road citing his concerns with the speeding cars heading to Robert Ringuette's marina, endangering children and anyone walking on the road to the beach. Mr. Hesketh listed several complaints with reference to the manner in which Mr. Ringuette is operating his marina, including a complaint that people are living overnight on boats, that he is repairing boats and that he is operating a restaurant. These complaints will be referred to the proper town department for follow-up.

WILL CHECK with the water department, harbormaster and highway department to determine if they are interested in using labor from the pre-release program at Myles Standish. Except for transportation and supervision, there would be no cost to the town.

Selectman Mahoney said this could be a good idea if not too burdensome for departments. The idea will be explored and reported back to Charles Soares, Deputy Commissioner of Correction at Myles Standish.

clude ceiling, framing and sheetrock for 3 cubicles to be constructed at the new police station for town hall record storage was given by Scott Armbruster. Also, it was noted there is no money available at this time for the project.

It was additionally noted a new sign in front of the town hall denoting the building as Town Hall could be made for $175. by Ken Pacheco.

Mr. Mahoney explained the sign is needed as several weeks ago a man from the state couldn't find the town hall as no name was attached to the building. "Obviously something has to be done about that," said Mr. Mahoney.

From Town Clerk

Mattapoisett Town Clerk Lois K. Ennis announces that on AUGUST 13, 1990 a SPECIAL TOWN MEETING to vote on a recertified budget for the Old Rochester Regional School District will be held. It is most important that you know that the individual or business you will be dealing with is qualified. When you go to a doctor's office you will see displayed on the walls licenses and certificates indicating the doctor's training and schooling. These show a doctor's patients his/her qualifications and also serve to build faith and confidence in his/her abilities to provide proper care. The same holds true for opticians. Marion Visiting Nurses

On January 1, 1990 the Marion Visiting Nurse Association merged with St. Luke's Hospital of New Bedford. Shortly thereafter, the Friends of the Marion Visiting Nurses was formed. The purpose of this organization is to continue the fund-raising activities of the past including the annual fund drivé, sale of tide tables, and the September (21st and 22nd) rummage sale. Proceeds from these efforts will be used to fund educational programs and to provide additional services to the people of our communities.

The merger has benefited our residents in that we now have access to all the services offered through St. Luke's including 24 hour on call nurses.

The prototype for this model was a wooden side-wheeler built at Camden, NJ in 1886. The model was based on blueprints of the original which hung in board room of the Steamship Authority in Woods Hole. Darrin Garcia and Michael Lopes unload a generous donation for Marion's Curbside Recycling Program.

Marion's Curbside Recycling

Wednesdays have taken on a new meaning in Marion this summer. It is the designated weekly curbside recycling day. One only has to go to the town barn to see the overflowing garage stalls in order to realize that Marion's first weeks of collecting recyclables have been a huge success.

The program got off the ground on July 11th with the shiny red DPW recycling truck collecting both newspapers and clear and other plastic containers from residents who put out their bags and barrels on the curb. Many residents were commenting that "usually I have to put out 3 trash cans but this week I only had to put out one, thanks to separating out the newspapers and plastics". The following weekend a huge tractor trailer parked behind the Sippican school became the permanent receptacle for the collected newspapers and for those who preferred to hand deliver their own supply. A steady stream of cars, many from surrounding towns, contributed to the 6 ½ ton total collected.

Wednesday, July 18, Marion's business community participated in the office paper and cardboard box collection. The Marion Town House, Tabor Academy, E.B. David, Trident Group, Sperry Sails, Saltonstall Assoc., Cumberland Farms, Christie's, Burr Bros., Marion Pharmacy, Ansel Gurney House, Marble Hardware, Downtown Data, AHEC and Coastal Zone Management all contributed to the first paper and cardboard collection with more businesses joining in as we go along Sippican Corporation has had its own office paper recycling program in place for almost a year. Hopefully all businesses that generate a lot of computer and office paper will set aside a box dedicated for the above use and hang onto it until the next curbside pickup which will be Wednesday, August 8.

Any individuals who are sorting and saving their accumulated mail may leave the paper at the Town Barn opposite Hiller's on Route 6. Letterhead, any color xerox paper, coated (shiny) and uncoated flyers, brochures, posterboard and envelopes are all recyclable. Please do not save window and manila envelopes, lined notebook paper, construction paper or magazines.

Despite the torrential rains on Wednesday, July 25, the recycling truck managed to pick up a substantial load of glass to finish the rotation schedule of curbside collection. The glass bins at the dump are overflowing which is a good sign that residents are doing their part in sorting out their trash and helping the environment.

Wednesday, August 1, will be newspaper and plastic curbside pickup followed by office paper and cardboard on August 8 and glass on August 15. If you have any questions feel free to call Olive Harris at 748-0849 or if the truck misses you, give Rob Zora at the Town House a call at 748-3500. If you are in doubt as to what is being collected when, just take a look at the blue banner proudly flying in front of the Post Office.

Q. My husband had two fender-bender accidents recently. Could his vision be at fault? He did pass the licensing bureau's eye test last year.

A. Your husband's vision could be at the root of his recent driving accidents.

The "eye test" given at the driver licensing bureaus is actually a screening test and no substitute for a thorough eye examination.

Also, if it has been a year or more since your husband had even the screening test, a vision problem could have developed.

Your optometrist will examine his eyes for eye disease, for common vision problems and for any lack in vision skills needed for driving. Be sure to tell the optometrist about the accidents and how they happened.

Note also any job changes that might be putting added stress on your husband's eyes. Hours of staring at a computer screen, for example, could temporarily blur distance vision needed to drive home safely. Whatever the cause, it is important to get to the root of the problem.

be returning next year as a captain for the 1991 season.

Second M.V.P. in Field events was a tie between two of the area's best in their events. Debbie Reardon is the best in the Javelin. She has competed in the National Track Meet for two years. Debbie also throws the discus. This year Debbie was the 1990 State Champion in the javelin. She was also a team captain.

Captain Edlyn Engle also won the second M.V.P. award. Edlyn has been a runner and jumper for ORR. Our long jump, high jump and 440 teams have placed repeatedly in State Meets due to her excellent performances. Edlyn has gone to the National Track Meet for three years and has placed in the long jump by going almost 17 feet.

Our community should be very proud of these fine young women. We wish them luck as Mollie heads to the University of New Hampshire, Debbie to Fitchburg State College, and Edlyn to Duke University. Jen will return as a team captain.

Community Service, ORR

The Old Rochester Regional School Committee recently approved a new program for students at the high school. All ORR students will be encouraged to participate in a community service program, which enables them to receive credit towards graduation. The objectives of the Community Service program will be to instill in students a sense of community responsibility and to provide an opportunity for career exploration.

Students for the program will be recruited through health classes, English classes and social studies classes. In addition,

The kind that would be missed?
Or are you just content that
Your name is on the membership list?

Will you attend the meetings

Or will you stay at home
To criticize and knock?
When the business session comes around,
Will you pretend to be sick?
And leave the work to just a few,
Then talk about the "Clique".

95th Birthday Celebrated

Miss Dorothy Fox of Mattapoisett celebrated her 95th birthday on Friday, July 27th, together with her friend Mandy who is about 8 years old. Miss Fox, who was congratulated by friends during the day, wore a tiara brought by one of her visitors. For so many years the Mattapoisett Library and Dorothy Fox were thought of in the same context as she served Mattapoisett as Librarian so long and so well until her retirement. Miss Fox, in all these years, has lost none of her lively humor and zest for life. In her last appearance in the Presto, she went sailing to celebrate her 90th year. Due to the New England mist of this past week, she has stayed under cover in her home, but is looking forward to her next sailing date for which she hopes for a chop on the harbor. "I like to get wet when I sail", she explained.

Birthday Dog Mandy is an amiable companion ever since arriving from the Animal Rescue League in New Bedford. Mandy's golden coat is a shining inspiration for Miss Fox in her

Wetlands Protection

BUZZARDS BAY PROJECT

The following article is part of a series on the recommendations contained in the Buzzards Bay Comprehensive Conservation and Management Plan (CCMP). This plan is the product of a five-year effort by the Buzzards Bay Project which is part of a national program to protect critical estuaries. Each of the articles in the series focuses on a separate topic addressed by the CCMP. The series is prepared by the Lloyd Center for Environmental Studies for the Buzzards Bay Project.

WETLANDS PROTECTION WILL PREVENT POLLUTION OF BUZZARDS BAY

Wetlands are one of the most naturally productive areas in the world. They produce more vegetation than any other environment enabling them to support an abundance of wildlife. Wetlands also perform a number of functions that are beneficial to man including flood and erosion control, pollution and storm damage prevention, and protection of water supplies, shellfish growing areas, fisheries, and wildlife habitat.

Despite that Massachusetts has one of the oldest and most restrictive wetland protection programs in the nation, wetlands are being destroyed at an unacceptable rate in this state. Massachusetts has lost 40 to 50 percent of its wetlands base to date.

Many environmentalists believe that the present regulatory process is inadequate. This may be particularly true in the Buzzards Bay region, where by 1995 the population is expected to have increased 31 percent over 1970 levels and where residential land use had already increased more than 100 percent since 1951.

The Buzzards Bay Project has included a number of recommendations in its management plan to help counter the adverse impacts that the current population and development booms may have on the area's wetlands.

Currently, both inland and coastal wetlands in the Commonwealth are regulated under two sets of laws, the Wetlands Protection Act (WPA) and the Wetlands Restriction Act. The Buzzards Bay Project supports the strengthening of the WPA and its regulations as well as the state Department of Environmental Protection's (DEP) renewed efforts to restrict wetlands from development.

The Wetlands Protection Act requires that a permit be obtained before any removing, dredging, filling, or other altering of wetlands can take place. Anyone proposing to do any such work in a wetland must file a permit application with their local conservation commission. Conservation commissions review each permit application on a case by case basis, and may impose a variety of conditions that developers or property owners must meet including the completion of work within a specified amount of time and replication of altered wetlands elsewhere.

Because of the complexity of wetlands protection and the inadequate training and freqeunt turnover of commissioners, not all conservation commissions impose all of the conditions that may be necessary to adequately protect a wetland resource. The Buzzards Bay Project recommends that boards of selectmen appoint commissioners who are dedicated to the aggressive implementation of the WPA, and that environmental groups monitor the make-up of conservation commissions, lobby for the appointment of wetland advocates, and petition commissions to ascertain the legality of suspected wetlands violations. Mandatory attendance of conservation commission members at WPA training courses is also favored.

The Buzzards Bay Project recommends that discretionary destruction of bordering vegetated wetlands, or the wet meadows, marshes, swamps, or bogs near rivers, lakes, and other freshwater sources, be discouraged except under extreme circumstances or in projects with an overriding public purpose. Currently, up to 500 square feet of bordering vegetated wetlands may be destroyed without penalty at the discretion of a conservation commission, and up to 5000 square feet may be destroyed if the area is replaced nearby in accordance with state regulations.

The destruction of bordering vegetated wetlands is disfavored primarily because these areas are the most important inland habitat for wildlife in Massachusetts. Because wetland habitat is vital for wildlife and because replication of wetlands is not foolproof, the project recommends amending the regulation under the WPA to require developers to replicate wetlands at two times the amount of acreage they destroy.

The Project also recommends amending the WPA to require the protection of isolated vegetated wetlands, such as the areas surrounding small kettle hole pools, and any intermittent streams that lie up-gradient of a currently recognized wetland resource and help to maintain the function of that resource.

Currently, wetlands are further protected by a 100 foot "buffer zone" that extends horizontally outward from their boundaries. The WPA requires review of any proposed development within this zone. In some cases, development is precluded from this area. However, a 100 foot buffer zone may not provide adequate protection of a wetland in all situations, and there are no standards to guide conservation commissions in their decisions about development in these areas.

Conservation commissions spend an extraordinary amount of time debating the fate of projects proposed for buffer zone areas. Falmouth's commission alone estimated that 85 percent of its time involves cases of this type. The Project recommends that DEP define standards for development in buffer zones, as well as in areas subject to coastal storm flow and tidal action.

Wetlands can be completely restricted from development through the Wetlands Restriction Program. Under this program protective orders are registered on the deeds of delineated wetlands. Statewide, approximately 50,000 acres have been restricted, but these are almost exclusively coastal salt marshes. In the Buzzards Bay region, six of the 10 coastal towns have had some or all of their coastal wetlands restricted, but only Bourne has had its inland wetlands restricted. Restriction of the great quantity of inland wetlands in the Buzzards Bay drainage basin, especially those acres which border the seven major rivers that drain directly into the Bay, could help prevent degradation of the Bay.

Local governments can act independently to protect wetlands with a number of planning and pre-emption options, according to Buzzards Bay Project officials. Towns may acquire conservation lands or encourage land acquistion by private land trusts. Towns can also consider purchasing conservation easements, providing major property tax reductions for wetland areas, and toughening zoning requirements on wetland properties.

Planning boards can adopt rules that require wetland delineation within proposed subdivision developments prior to approval of such plans. Eventually, zoning law changes could be implemented that would change the way minimum lot size is determined so that only upland portions of lots are included in lot size calculations and the filling of bordering vegetated wetlands is prevented.

Boards of health may adopt regulations that prohibit the use of filled wetlands to meet setback requirements for septic systems and that require that all setback distances by measured from the edge of a delineated wetland. Currently, regulations for septic systems tie all setback distances to the annual flood elevation or the mean high water mark, and fail to recognize that some wetland areas almost never have standing water.

Finally, local governments can develop embayment or harbor management plans. Such plans identify valuable habitats, such as shellfish beds and spawning or migratory areas, and restrict the use of these areas to minimize ecosystem impacts. Dredging and construction "seasons", dock-free zones, mooring areas, boat exclusion zones, and areas where hydraulic dredging of "jet clamming" is prohibited can all be specified in such plans, thus empowering conservation commissions and harbor masters to successfully deny activities that would adversely impact critical resource areas.

thirteen years of service.

Peter C. Bullard, President of the Museum's Board of Trustees, stated that the decision to begin dissolution of the institution, officially known as The New Bedford Glass Society, Inc., was made unanimously at a recent board meeting.

"This was an extremely painful decision to make", added Mr. Bullard, "but with earned income from tourism declining more than 50% in the past two years, and the local economy not capable of supporting a capital campaign sufficient to cover the deficit, the trustees truly felt there was no viable option to dissolution."

The Museum has no endowment. Opened in 1977 as the showcase of the then-new Waterfront Historic District, the Museum is housed in the historic 1821 Benjamin Rodman House.

Janie Chester Young, Museum Director since 1982, went on to cite the efforts of board and staff to cut expenses and increase revenues over the past few years, even while services and standards of collection care were being improved.

"We had cut spending back to 1986 levels, but it wasn't enough", she stated. "Many factors contributed to the Museum's closing, including an increasingly competitive tourism industry, in which New Bedford, as well as Massachusetts in general, are being squeezed out. The Glass Museum has always been too dependent on earned income."

"The irony of achieving accreditation only a few months before closing is very painful. The staff, especially, worked valiantly to gain this honor for the Museum", added Mr. Bullard.

The Glass Museum is one of only 683 accredited museums in North America, out of 6,000. In 1985, the Museum was recognized for its historic preservation as the only New Bedford site on the Masssachusetts List of Totally Preserved Buildings. The Museum owns a collection of over 4,000 objects, including glass, metals, porcelain, and archival materials documenting New Bedford's historic glass industry from 1887 to 1956.

The exact resolution of the Museum's operation is not yet final. The Board of Trustees is now examining various options, with the dual priorities of keeping the collection in New Bedford, if possible, and accessible to the public. A final recommendation will be made to the Museum membership in the near future. Following the July 9 Board decision, new memberships are not being accepted, as staff prepare formal meeting announcements and proxy ballots.

The Museum is open to the public on a reduced basis at this time, according to Mrs. Young, "but we expect to be closing in a few weeks." Beginning this week the Glass Museum will be open Monday through Friday from 10:00 until 4:00.

"All efforts are being made for the secure and orderly withdrawal of loaned materials, the sale of Museum Store stock, as well as the completion of our financial obligations and staff commitments," reported Mrs. Young.

The Museum's historic building, it has already been decided, will be put on the market for sale. Funds from the sale, after final financial obligations are met, will be used to establish an endowment for the collection. It is the board's hope that sufficient funds can be created to display the collection locally, and assure its preservation.

Restored with the help of a Massachusetts Preservation Grant in 1985, the 170 year old building will be sold with perpetual reservation restrictions imposed both by the Commonwealth and the building's previous owner, the Waterfront Historic Area League (WHALE).

Completed in 1821 by Quaker financier Benjamin Rodman, the granite Federal-style mansion is considered to be one of the finest homes of this early period in southern New England. In 1965, Catherine Crapo Bullard, grandmother of the current Museum presi-been sent information concerning the exploratory program they will enter in September and about the opportunities available to them in non-traditional fields.

All ninth graders participate in four shop areas, three of their own selection and one assigned by the guidance department, before making their selections of majors from the 12 offered at Old Colony. Students are encouraged to consider entering non-traditional programs and are informed of their rights to occupational choices at the same time.

Old Colony has an active non-traditional curriculum which, in 1989-1990, involved 32 students who participated in a variety of activities including special programs, conferences and field trips. The group was composed of female students enrolled in electricity, machine shop, machine carpentry and offset printing, and male students studying health careers and data processing.

Students or their parents or guardians who wish additional information on non-traditional careers are encouraged to phone the Career Options Coordinator at Old Colony at 763-8011. Area clubs and organizations seeking programs for the coming year are invited to contact the school as well.

The 19th Annual New Black Eagle Jazz Concert will be held Saturday, August 4th, at 7:30 p.m. at Heritage Plantation of Sandwich. The rain date is Sunday, August 26th, at 7:30 p.m. The band delivers a generous serving of warm, tasteful New Orleans style jazz. Please bring a lawn chair or blanket to this outdoor concert.

The Eagles are led by Tony Pringle from England. If pressed, Pringle will tell you they model themselves on the great New Orleans black bands of the 1920s. But, partly, at least, they result from New England Heritage.

ant, psychologist, advertising executive and faculty member of the Boston University Graduate School of Dentistry.

They have a busy schedule of appearances, a schedule that has them spreading contagious joy through club, concert and festival audiences. They have produced numerous outstanding records and as the Eagles' reputation has spread so has the clamor of jazz fans for their musical services. Their aerie is the Sticky Wicket Pub in Hopkinton, where they have been playing weekly for many years.

As a fund-raising measure to help defray the expense of Heritage Plantation's summer programs, members and visitors alike will, this year, be charged admission to the performance of this popular band. Tickets are $7.00 for adults, $6.00 for seniors (65 or older), children under 12, $3.00; five and under are free. The Museum encourages families to enjoy a picnic in the picnic area outside the Main gate. Picnicking is not allowed on the Museum grounds or concert green. For more information call 888-3300.

But no sooner do they start to nibble when Peter's siblings get caught -- and this time old McGregor wants to make sure they don't escape.

Relive the adventures of Peter Rabbit as he smooth-talks his sisters into disobeying Mother Rabbit and entering the cabbage patch and then has to rescue them. The Gingerbread Players & Jack retell Beatrix Potter's immortal tale August 8th at 10:30 a.m. at New Bedford's Zeiterion Theatre. The performance is the last one of the Summer Youth Theatre Festival 1990, sponsored by Shaw's Supermarkets.

The actors retell the story of Peter Rabbit, with songs, dances, lavish costumes and colorful sets. In their version, Peter's valiant rescue attempt is capped off with one of the funniest and zaniest chases ever to climax an adventure story.

The Gingerbread Players & Jack is a professional children's theatre company from New York, dedicated to presenting shows rich in costume, design and content. During their retelling of children's favorite stories, the Gingerbread Players offer youngsters guidelines to follow when dealing with the problems of growing up. The company is a favorite with Zeiterion audiences, having performed here many times in the past.

Tickets for "The Adventures of Peter Rabbit" are $4.50, general admission, and are on sale at the Zeiterion box office, 684 Purchase Street, New Bedford; telephone 994-2900. Group rates are also available. Individual tickets are available through Ticket-

A.F. Band at Heritage

TO PERFORM AT HERITAGE PLANTATION

"Symphonic Winds", the United States Air Force Band of New England will perform at Heritage Plantation of Sandwich Wednesday August 8th, at 7:30 p.m.

This exceptional performing unit is stationed at Pease Air Force Base in Portsmouth, New Hampshire. The members of "Symphonic Winds" are highly talented musicians who bring to each concert the skill and knowledge gained from years of study and performing experience. Many hold music degrees and have studied with eminent teachers.

Programs are chosen to highlight the diversity of America's musical cultural heritage, combining many different types of music. A typical evening concert might include light classical selections, an instrumental soloist, several contrasting marches, a featured vocalist, selections from the great favorites of Broadway, Hollywood, and the current popular repertoire, plus a stirring patriotic finale. These concerts follow the example of the world-famous "Boston Pops" with emphasis on variety, quality, and the highest standards of performance.

All concerts by the Air Force Band of New England are free and open to the pub-

A Glove So Good It Leaves The Competition Petrified.

If you've ever played golf with an ordinary glove then you know how it goes.

First they get sweaty. Then they get stiff. And soon they get tossed.

But if you play with a Sta-Sof® glove or its warm weather partner – the Sta-Sof Cooler™ – that's never going to happen.

Because Sta-Sof gloves dry soft and stay soft thanks to a remarkable WR200 tanning process developed exclusively for Foot-Joy by Pittards of England.

Round after round you can be sure of getting a true fit, a better grip, and superior feel.

Wear a Sta-Sof. Because a stiff glove is going to make the game a lot harder than it should be.
